IT IS THE RESPONSIBILITY of the Corresponding Author to collect the signatures of all authors
BEFORE sending the form to the Editorial Office.

Manuscript #: _____ The International Anesthesia Research Society (IARS) (“the Owner”) will be pleased to publish your article (including all accompanying digital supplement content, if any) entitled:

_____ in Anesthesia & Analgesia.

The accepted work for publication includes all submitted written material as well as any supplemental digital material including but not limited to audio, video, and other data files whose formats may vary and is subject to the following terms:

1. The undersigned author(s) (“the Author”) or where the Work is a “work made for hire” for an employer (“the Employer”), the Employer, hereby grants and assigns to the Owner, its successors and assigns all rights in the Work of any kind, including those protected by the copyright laws of the United States or any foreign country.
2. Author or, if applicable, the Employer, warrants that his/her contribution is original; he/she has full power to make this grant; the Work contains no libelous or otherwise unlawful matter; and either that the Work has not been previously published or, if portions including text, figures, tables, illustrations, or audio/video files have been previously published, permission has been obtained for publication in the Periodical and he/she will submit copy of the permission release and language for credit lines with his/her manuscript.
3. The author shall have the right to revise, adapt, prepare derivative works, present orally, or distribute the Work provided that such use is for the personal noncommercial benefit of the Author, is consistent with any prior contractual agreement, if any, between the Author and his/her employer, and lawful notice of copyright is given.
4. Where the Work or any element thereof is a “work made for hire,” the Employer (whose authorized agent must sign below) shall have the right to revise, adapt, prepare derivative works, publish, reprint, reproduce, and distribute the Work provided that all such use is for the promotion of its business enterprise, does not imply the Owner’s or Publisher’s endorsement, and lawful notice of copyright is given.
5. The Owner may grant third parties permission to copy all or part of the Work. If such permission is given, the Owner may, at its option and as a matter of courtesy, advise the Author or Employer of such permission.
6. Neither Author nor Employer will receive any royalty or other monetary compensation from the Owner or the Publisher for the rights transferred by the Agreement.
7. If the Work is based on underlying research funded by an applicable grant (as defined below), the Author retains the right to agree to posting of the Work on PubMed Central. Author(s) will not deposit their articles themselves or alter the post-print already transmitted to NIHMS. Author(s) will not authorize the display of the post-print prior to: 12 months following publication of the final article, in the case of NIH; or 6 months following publication of the final article, in the case of Wellcome Trust and HHMI

Compliance with NIH and Other Research Funding Agency Accessibility Requirements

The funding agencies listed below require authors to submit the post-print (the article after peer review and acceptance but not the final published article) to a repository that is accessible online by all without charge. Please indicate if you have received funding for research on which your article is based from any of the following organizations:

- The U.S. National Institutes of Health (NIH), which requires authors to deposit post-prints based on NIH-funded research in its repository PubMed Central (PMC) within twelve months after publication of the final article in the journal.

- The Howard Hughes Medical Institute (HHMI) and the Medical Research Council (MRC), which require authors to deposit post-prints based on HHMI or MRC funded research in PubMed Central (PMC) within six months after publication of the final article in the journal.
- The Wellcome Trust, which requires authors to deposit post-prints based on Wellcome Trust funded research in PubMed Central (PMC) within six months after publication of the final article in the journal.

As a service to our authors, based on your indication of funding, the Journal will identify articles that require deposit, and transmit the post-print of such articles to NIH Manuscript Submission System (NIHMS). Upon NIHMS request to the author, it remains the legal responsibility of the author(s) to validate the submission with the repository.

This Agreement must be signed by all authors or, in the case of “work made for hire,” by an authorized agent of the employer. The corresponding author must submit the completed form to the editorial office at the above address before the manuscript can be processed for publication. If all or part of the Work was prepared under a contract with the U.S. Government, state contract number: _____.
